

7 pm, Wednesday
April 6, 2011

Legacy Books & Cafe
5249 Delmar (near Union)
St. Louis, MO 63108

De-Growing <sup>the</sup> Economy

Protecting Jobs & the Environment

The global economy is collapsing at the same time the world is suffering the worse environmental crisis in over a million years. We hear from all over that the economy must “grow” while there is a deafening silence on the ecological catastrophe.

Must society destroy biodiversity, release even more toxic poisons, exhaust natural resources, and push global warming beyond the point of no return in order to have jobs? Is there another way to deal with the waste and destructiveness of this economy?

Could we actually shrink industrial production while providing jobs for everyone and a world safe for our grandchildren? Join your friends in discussing how we can build a new world.

- Don Fitz, Gateway Green Alliance (moderator)
- Tila Neguse, Peace Economy Project
- Fredric Raines, Economics, Washington Univ.
- Jamala Rogers, Organization for Black Struggle

The USA has huge per capita consumption.
With only 5% of the world's population, we use more than 25% of the earth's resources.

For more info call 314-727-8554 or visit www.gateway-greens.org